Seeds for the Journey

We've all witnessed the evidence of the changing season – the coolness in the air, the beautiful colors of the trees, the setting of the sun earlier. I'm am thankful for all the beauty of the season and feeling of generosity this time of year evokes.

During this season I want to recognize the generosity of our parishioners - thank you to the 184 donors who have donated to this year's CMA appeal, we have reached 32.7% of our goal. As the parish works towards reaching our goal, I thought it important to recognize some of the ways St. Paul Church has benefited from the CMA.

Did you know... our new website was developed by the Diocesan IT department – when our old website was failing we turned to the Diocese for help. They were able to create the new website in a relatively short period of time. Our new website has a fresh look and new features. We were able to switch to a lower cost web hosting provider and now have support for updating our website. Without these services provided by the Diocese, the parish would have incurred additional expenses and an investment of time. This is your CMA dollars at work!

Did you know... our new camera system was purchased through (at a reduced cost) and installed (at no charge) by the Diocese. This is your CMA dollars at work!

I again wish to thank and recognize all those who have given generously and ask all who have not yet given to prayerfully consider doing so. The Appeal helps our Church and our parish in so many ways. Please consider all the ways that God has blessed you and join our appeal and give back what you can so that we can remain strong and able to do God's great work!

Autumn Prayer

O God of Creation, you have blessed us with the changing of the seasons.

As we embrace these autumn months,

May the earlier setting of the sun remind us to take time to rest.

May the crunch of the leaves beneath our feet remind us of the brevity of this earthly life.

May the scurrying of the squirrels and the migration of the birds remind us that you call us to follow your will.

We praise you for your goodness forever and ever. Amen.

The Communion Rite:

The Concluding Rites:

Announcements are made. The priest gives the final blessing and the deacon makes the dismissal. The priest and deacon venerate the altar and proceed on to the procession for recession singing the exit hymn.

Sent Out On Mission:

We get the word "Mass" from the concluding words of the Mass in Latin: "ite, missa est," literally translated as "Go, it is the dismissal." So in this context, it makes more sense to say we go from Mass rather than we go to Mass because the Mass sends us forth on mission! We hear, "Go in peace, glorifying the Lord by your life."

Pope Francis says we go forth to bring the Good News, to heal the sick, and reconnect those on the margins. We rely only on the authority of Christ and the goodness of those with whom we share the Eucharist, our companions on the way.

Catholic Agencies Urge Governments to Protect Migrants Seeking Safe Haven Calling for Compassion Toward Those Needing Refuge from Violence and Poverty

BALTIMORE, MD, October 29, 2018 – As thousands of people from Honduras and other Central American countries are making their way toward Mexico and the United States, three major Catholic agencies are urging all people of goodwill to speak and act with compassion towards those seeking refuge from violence and poverty.

Bishop Joe S. Vásquez of Austin, Chairman of the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops Committee on Migration, Sean Callahan, President and CEO of Catholic Relief Services, and Sister Donna Markham OP PhD, President and CEO of Catholic Charities USA issued the following statement:

"As Catholic agencies assisting poor and vulnerable migrants in the United States and around the world, we are deeply saddened by the violence, injustice, and deteriorating economic conditions forcing many people to flee their homes in Central America. While nations have the right to protect their borders, this right comes with responsibilities: governments must enforce laws proportionately, treat all people humanely, and provide due process.

We affirm that seeking asylum is not a crime. We urge all governments to abide by international law and existing domestic laws that protect those seeking safe haven and ensure that all those who are returned to their home country are protected and repatriated safely.

Furthermore, we strongly advocate for continued U.S. investments to address the underlying causes of violence and lack of opportunity in Central America. Our presence throughout the Americas has convinced us that migration is a regional issue that requires a comprehensive, regional solution. An enforcement-only approach does not address nor solve the larger root causes that cause people to flee their countries in search of protection.

As Christians, we must answer the call to act with compassion towards those in need and to work together to find humane solutions that honor the rule of law and respect the dignity of human life."

Catholic Relief Services is working with church partners in Guatemala and Mexico to monitor the situation and provide humanitarian assistance to migrants. Recognizing the need to address the violence and lack of opportunity that drive migration, our programs in Central America create economic opportunity and reduce people's vulnerability.

Goldman, Ari L.

The Search for God at Harvard

Recent tragedies remind us that hostility toward religions different from our own is egregious. When he was a religion reporter for The New York Times, Ari Goldman took a year's leave from his job and enrolled in the Harvard Divinity School, the most prestigious of American divinity schools, so that he could return to the Times to write about all religions with greater knowledge and authority. What began as a project to deepen his religious knowledge, led to his reexamination of his own faith as an Orthodox Jew while at the same time opening his mind to the great religions of the world. Through his classes at Harvard, he sat in black Baptist churches, joined Quakers at a Friends' meeting, examined Islamic art at a mosque, and went from millions of gods in Hinduism to no gods in Buddhism. With each encounter, he left a Jew but also nourished by other faiths. He also left as a journalist who did indeed "find God at Harvard." (Call No. 291.0973-GOL)

A Year Down Yonder

In this sequel to A Long Way from Chicago, the year is 1937 and Mary Alice is 15 years old. She is once again sent to Grandma Dowdel's, this time without her brother Joey. Mary Alice is reluctant to leave Chicago to spend the year at grandma's primitive house in the small Illinois hick town. However, as the year progresses, she comes to better understand, appreciate, and love her large, feisty, and extremely unpredictable grandmother. This Newbery Award-winning book will not disappoint young readers.
